

If this is done to Kerry right now, at some point in the future it will be done to a Republican. The playing field is not level. It is a sad time for the American news media, and thusly a sickly time for our democracy.